

Defense Council Formed For Canal Point And Pahokee

P. P. de Moya Chairman;
Fourmy Is Vice-Chairman

A large group of Pahokee and Canal Point citizens met in the school cafeteria in Pahokee Wednesday night and formed the Pahokee-Canal Point area defense council. A group of five men interested in the work came out from West Palm Beach and assisted in formation of the local council.

After a full and complete explanation of the work to be done by the newly formed group, an election was held at which a chairman, vice chairman and secretary were named. P. P. de Moya was chosen as chairman and Johnny Fourmy of Canal Point was named vice-chairman. Otto Bleech of Pahokee was named secretary. Mr. Bleech has an office in the central part of Pahokee and is qualified to serve the council in an efficient manner as secretary. Mr. de Moya has had experience in defense work, having been at the head of the civilian defense registration. Mr. Fourmy has had many years experience in Legion work and is an ardent worker wherever the welfare of the community is concerned.

The group named at the organization meeting will choose 11 sub-chairmen at an early date and their duties will be outlined to them at that time. It is hoped by the officials that every man or woman who is named on the list

At the meeting Wednesday night an interesting and inspiring address was delivered by Ernest Metcalf of West Palm Beach. Mr. Metcalf has always been an outstanding civic worker and served as mayor of West Palm Beach. His address was warmly received by those in attendance.

Ray Alley, vice chairman of the Palm Beach county defense council, was another visitor present who assisted in the organization. Ed Stumpf, Chief Sadler and Stetson O. Sproul were also in attendance at the meeting.

School's out! The summer vacation is starting. Thousands of boys and girls in Palm Beach county have three months to catch upon their swimming, fishing and other sports.

Black bass fishing in the waters of Lake Okechobee is better this season than it has been for the past four years. Fishing contests in various Glades towns are having many entrants for the vast number of valuable prizes. Neighboring rivers are furnishing their share of the entries.

Rev. C. A. Moberg has taken over the pastorate of the First Baptist church in Pahokee and we extend to him and his family the warmest of greetings. The new pastor is a young man and has an enviable record behind him as an organizer and leader in Christian circles. We feel sure the citizens of this community will give the new pastor the co-operation he deserves in his new field.

Many may think the vegetable shipping season is over in the Lake Region. Banish the thought. Peppers are being shipped daily and are commanding a good price—as much as $2.50 in New York. Eggplant still remains on the active list. The drought in other southern states has created a demand for late vegetables from this farming section. Pepper shipments will go north for a couple of weeks yet, it was stated this week by one of the Lake Region's big growers.

Commencement time is past in Palm Beach county. Hundreds of seniors have left "school life" to go out into "life's school." There'll be many bumps and knocks received by the youngsters who are facing the world for the first time in their effort to earn a livelihood. However, it is our sincere hope that not one of the youngsters will go forth with the idea that the world owes him a living. If they start with this idea in mind there remains for them a sad awakening.

Young Dan McCarty of Fort Pierce, who served so ably as speaker of the house during the recent legislative session, has been called for military service. His service in Uncle Sam's army may disrupt his plans to offer for commissioner of agriculture in the election of 1944. Perhaps Young McCarty may complete the job of serving his country and return to his St. Lucie county home in time to make the race for the job now held by Nathan Mayo. Whatever may be his future—we join his thousands of friends in wishing him the best of luck.

Another able and outstanding legislator has been rewarded. Homer Holt of Miami has been named a circuit judge by Governor Holland. Mr. Holt served in the lower house at Tallahassee in the 1937-39-41 session.

sions and was an outstanding member. An able lawyer, a brilliant orator, when Representative Holt took the floor for or against a bill the members listened. He was a staunch supporter of the Holland legislative program before and after the Polk assassin's blow. We predict a long and successful tenure of office for Judge Holt.

It's not uncommon for a man to turn his hobby into a business. But Fred E. Smith, 5907 Eustace Avenue, puts it vice versa. What started out as a business with him, developed into a full time hobby. In 1937 Mr. Smith bought himself half a dozen pairs of white Mondain pigeons with the idea of going into the squab business. His son became interested in raising homing pigeons, and recently his birds copped the handsome trophy offered by the Tampa Racing Pigeon Club each year to the pigeon owner whose birds turn in the best average speed in a series of eight races ranging from 100 to 600 miles' distance.—Tampa Times.

A. O. Kanner, who recently resigned as state senator, has taken the oath as circuit judge in his district—comprised of St. Lucie, Martin and Okechobee counties. Mr. Kanner has served his senatorial district in the upper house of the state legislature for eight years. He has earned for himself an enviable reputation as being honest and sincere and an outstanding legislator. Now that it's Judge Kanner the people of his circuit may rest assured that decisions handed down from his bench will be fair and impartial. No man commanded more sincere respect from his colleagues than did Senator Kanner during the days he served in the legislature. No judge in Florida will command more respect from the citizenry than will Judge Kanner in years to come. May he serve long. "We know he will serve well."

"A dear old lady in Kansas", we are told by The Emporia Gazette, "made a brag the other day that she had read the Bible heaven knows how many times and that she had recently read it through in a certain number of hours. That was sacrilegious. Reading the Bible against time is a waste of time and a profanation of the Bible. The Bible is, on the whole the greatest book in any language. It is full of beautiful philosophy, and the King James version in English is probably the finest example of pure, strong, poetic English that our language has ever produced. The Bible is full of poetry. It is full of a shrewd but broad and tolerant common sense, the charitable wisdom of the ages. It contains the dominant philosophy that has influenced the world 2,000 years. It is full of amazing stories. It is a great literature. A. R. Hoist, quite apart from its theology. Anyone who would read the Bible against time is doing a low, ignominious thing. Certainly it is not a pious act to run through it pell-mell and headlong. It should be read carefully, slowly, thoughtfully, and the dear old Kansas lady who declared that she had read it so quickly and so often probably never saw the book, but those who have heard its poetic organ tones at funerals, and run across its wisdom in old places and realize what a treasure house it is. With a well-spring this Bible is of comfort and joy and philosophical insight into the problems of modern life."—Jacksonville Times-Union.

camp, while able to meet the normal demands of their own populations for spiritual, recreational and welfare needs, have found themselves totally unable to cope with the problem of meeting such needs of thousands of young men who have swarmed in, from nearby camps.

That is where the U. S. O. comes in. For the U. S. O. is comprised of the following agencies: Y. M. C. A., The National Catholic Community Service, The Salvation Army, Y. W. C. A., National Jewish Welfare Board and the National Travelers Aid Association, who are pooling their efforts and plans to maintain and operate clubhouses for service men where religious services, counsel and guidance social events and entertainment group activities in dramatics, music and crafts will be provided under the leadership of capable men and women especially trained for such work.

At these clubhouses the boys will be given an opportunity to meet young men and women of the local communities in a clean and wholesome atmosphere. They will find any number of interesting and worthwhile activities awaiting them. Books and magazines will invite them in spacious reading and recreation rooms. There will be desks with stationery available and friendly folks to help and advise them and see that they "get acquainted" and always have somewhere to go and something to do.

Today about the only place open to the off-duty soldier is a cheap beer hall or noisy juke joint, and his welcome, even in such places, wears out as soon as his money is gone. Companions he picks up in such places don't help him or the more of the nation's military service.

The U. S. O. is the answer to this acute problem. The government is providing suitable buildings for these clubhouses in those communities near camps and the U. S. O. is prepared to man and operate them.

Now, here is where you and I come in. Our job is to provide the funds for equipping, furnishing and maintaining them. During the next few weeks you will be called upon to contribute toward this worthy cause. It is not "just another" drive. It is much bigger, much more important than that. It is a major effort in the National Defense. It is an opportunity for you and for me to really DO SOMETHING.

Experience is the best teacher we admit. That is the reason it comes at such a high price.

Britons To Fly In States' Cow Country

ARCADIA, June 12—Info from the heart of Florida's cow country came today to learn flying the American way.

Part of a 35-man contingent to be trained by Uncle Sam, they brought with them Canadian newspaper clippings relating that their trans-Atlantic ship was the intended target of the German battleship Bismarck before the raider was sunk.

The young Britons, weary and sweat-stained from the 90-degree weather, were greeted at the railroad station by gaily-dressed cow girls, who piled them with oranges, tea and doughnuts.

Their eyes sparkled as they selected at the brand-new Riddle Aeronautical Institute, a civilian school affiliated with the United States air training program.

Fifty-three members of an American flying class mingled with the victors and soon the Britons, wearing borrowed swimming trunks, were splashing in the pool.

Handpicked from the best young potential flyers in England to begin the serious business of learning to fly. After a week of preliminary courses here, they will be graduated to basic training schools, with an advanced course to follow.

PAHOKEE 19 YEARS YOUR FORD DEALER BELLE GLADE

WE GIVE A BETTER DEAL ON YOUR OLD CAR!

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

By Russell Kay

During the past few years alphabetical agencies happened to us so fast that even the most ardent "new dealer" had trouble trying to remember all of them, let alone keep track of what they were doing.

In view of this fact you may have formed the opinion that the "U. S. O." is just another one of these governmental letter societies and decided not to worry about it. To set you right, "U. S. O." is NOT a governmental agency. The "U. S. O." doesn't stand for "United States" and the "O" doesn't stand for "Official." The letters "U. S. O." stand for "United Service Organizations"—an independent civilian effort to do a mighty big and mighty important job that needs to be done right now.

Your Uncle Sam has had his hands plenty full for the last few months getting a million or more young men into camps, through out the country and training them for national defense. The hours are long, the work is hard, the regulations strict and the pay poor. But these men have answered their country's call and they are not whining or bellyaching about it.

But when the cross-country march is over, when the planes are grounded, the artillery is muted and the tanks are in the shed there are hours allowed for rest and recreation.

Now a large percentage of the boys in our Army camps today find themselves away from home for the first time in their lives, and some of them are a mighty long way from home. They get a day or an evening off and they are lost. They have nowhere to go. Their friends are all back home. They're used to being "at home" in their homes, or their friends' or a party at Mabel's, or dance at the clubhouse. There was always something to do, some place to go, friends, companionship, fun.

Summary of Legislative Activity

Ivy Clyde J. Baer
Fla. News Service, Staff Writer

Tallahassee, June 12.—The 1941 session of the Florida Legislature has written a new chapter in the history of the state. In fact one might safely say that it has written a whole new book. Some of the new legislation is definitely good, some is of doubtful value, and some can be judged only after it has been tested in actual operation; but good or bad, for better or for worse, it marks new departures from the old ideas and systems.

The three outstanding features of legislation passed at the session, which closed Friday night, are the changes in the tax system, the new gas tax distribution, and the creation of the Florida Improvement Commission.

While the revamped tax system does not contain all the changes asked by Governor Holland, it still constitutes a radical change from the old and was the subject of the bitterest debate of any measure before the legislature, with the possible exception of some labor legislation.

The Governor lost his plea for a state tax commissioner, to be appointed now and later created by a constitutional amendment. However, he worked out a compromise which gives the state comptroller practically the same authority over county officials which he has requested to be given to a state tax commissioner. So the loss is a minor matter, and he can ask the 1942 Legislature to act on the creation of this office, but probably with less chance for success than he had this year.

The new laws require the assessment of all real and personal property, intangibles and railroad property, to be made at full cash value. All tax returns must be submitted to the comptroller for his approval and cannot go to the county equalization boards until the rolls have been approved by him. He also has authority to supervise the assessment and valuation of property, is charged with the duty to see that they are uniform and equal throughout the state. He also has supervision over the collection of such taxes.

Just how broad the comptroller's powers are is revealed in that section of the law which imposes upon him the obligation of investigating the conduct and performance of the duties by tax assessors, tax collectors, clerks of the circuit court, sheriffs, and members of boards of county commissioners when acting as agents of equalization, and removal to the governor the removal of any such official for his official failure to properly perform the duties imposed upon him by the constitution, this act and the rules and regulations prescribed pursuant to this act.

The issuance of a tax deed giving the buyer immediate and absolute possession when property is delinquent for two years is authorized.

Tangible personal property, such as cattle, business property, industrial plants and equipment must be assessed at full cash value. The assessor is authorized to make the law retroactive for three years and against any property which has been omitted from the rolls during that period.

Opponents of this reform tax legislation have threatened to test its legality in the courts, and it may be several years before we know definitely the value of these laws.

An attempt was made by this legislature to settle the distribution of gas taxes between the counties and the State Road Department for the next five years through the submission of a constitutional amendment, which if approved by the voters in 1942 will give the counties two cents and the road department two cents of the tax on each gallon of gasoline. Anticipating such approval, a distribution on that basis is provided at the present time.

The creation of the Florida Improvement Commission, controlled by the governor, establishes the greatest potential spending agency this state has ever seen. Under the former system the state was prohibited from issuing bonds except to suppress insurrection or repel invasion. The constitution still says that. But while the law specifically states that the obligations assumed by this commission cannot be state debt, a state agency is created with full authority to contract debts on "self liquidating projects for public use and benefit" with no other limitation on the amount or the scope of projects or the construction of it. It is frankly understood that one of the first projects to be considered by this commission is the proposed 52-mile dollar, a line highway down the east coast, with a branch to Tampa. Several toll bridges, representing investments of several million dollars, will probably be thrown into the pot, and promoters in every section of the state are scratching their heads trying to think up projects which will be of "public use and benefit."

and which they can appeal the commission, one must conclude that it offers splendid possibilities for developing a state. And at the same time, if improperly or unwisely handled, its actions may be more dangerous to the welfare of the state than any disaster which has ever struck it, and that includes hurricanes, earthquakes and Mediterranean flues.

While a few objections were offered to appropriating $50,000 to defray expenses of a state commission to be maintained at Washington, the benefits every section may receive through its operation seem to assure that it will be a most profitable investment.

A maximum of $40 per month was set on old age pensions, and finances have been provided which will at least double the present amount available for this purpose. Adequate provisions for the care of the aged has universal appeal; and while many fantastic proposals were made, the legislature showed sound judgment in selecting the laws adopted and rejected.

Whatever the final results may be, the people of Florida have seen history made in the 1941 session of their legislature.
